

Rödl & Partner

The group of Partners at Rödl & Partner Poland is expanding

The new Partners in Poland are Tomasz Balcerak and Aneta Bolka. The appointment ceremony took place during the 24th Forum Global, an international corporate event held in Nuremberg. There were overall 37 Partner nominations from 11 locations of Rödl & Partner worldwide.

The new Partners have been with Rödl & Partner Poland for a long time. Tomasz Balcerak has worked for Rödl & Partner since 2008. Aneta Bolka started her career with the firm one year earlier (2007). Both are leading large financial accounting teams – Tomasz in Warsaw and Aneta in Gliwice.

Tomasz Balcerak is a graduate of the Faculty of Economics at the Warsaw University of Life Sciences (SGGW) and postgraduate programme in enterprise accountancy and finance at the SGH Warsaw School of Economics. At Rödl & Partner in Poland, he is responsible for, among others, accounting outsourcing services, financial accounting supervision, preparing tax returns and annual financial statements, and tax compliance. His areas of focus also include accounting law, VAT, and corporate income tax. Tomasz is a Certified Tax Adviser (PL).

Aneta Bolka graduated from the University of Economics in Cracow. Her responsibilities at Rödl & Partner Poland cover regular financial accounting and tax accounting. She is involved in implementation and adaptation of accounting software to applicable tax and accounting laws. Her interests also extend to lean management, project management and digitalisation of accounting processes.

I try to combine my interests and passions with professional work. I chose the accountant profession because it lets me contact clients directly and get motivation to provide them with tax-optimised solutions. Good atmosphere and interesting talks are things I appreciate most at work. I love coming to work knowing that I will spend 8 hours with people whom I like and respect and who respect me even despite a considerable difference in age and experience, says Tomasz Balcerak, the new Partner.

What I like most about my job is teamwork and contact with clients. I believe that we, accountants, work with people rather than with numbers. I do not find the accountant's job boring because each day brings new experiences. The lean management concept appeals to me because it is an outcome of the effort that some people have put in to help other people. I think that people are the most important asset of every company. My second area of interest is digitalisation, whose role is to support organisations in carrying out repetitive processes and thus to free up capacities for solving more complex tasks, emphasises Aneta Bolka, the newly appointed Partner.
